

VOL 6: ISSUE 8

MESSAGE FROM SHERIFF HERNANDEZ

Last month I shared information with you about some of the challenges we're facing as we run your Travis County Jail in these unprecedented times. I'd like to take this opportunity to expound on the plight of the people in our jail population who are struggling with mental illness. Nearly 40% of inmates in our custody are battling some form of mental illness. 27% of them are diagnosed with moderate to severe symptoms. This includes symptoms such as psychosis, suicide ideation, delusions and manic or depressive mood.

One of the impacts on our jail population is a backup of people who have been deemed mentally incompetent to stand trial, waiting for admittance to a hospital. The state hospital system has put a limit on admittances, and the number of inmates in our custody who are waiting has significantly increased. These inmates have high mental health needs and wait up to two years to be transferred to a hospital.

Can you imagine being locked in a jail cell because you committed a crime based solely on mental illness? Many of these inmates don't know where they are or why they're there. They languish in a county jail, waiting longer for court ordered hospital treatment than they would have stayed in jail if found guilty of the offense they committed. This is a travesty!

We work closely with Integral Care and NAMI Central Texas (National Alliance on Mental Illness) for assistance in caring for this vulnerable population. Our team of mental health professionals works tirelessly to offer the very best care to these inmates. But let's be clear. A jail is not a hospital. It isn't designed to provide the kind of environment suited for acute mental health treatment. We need to do better, and I hope our state will step up during the next legislative session.

I'm grateful to the Austin American Statesman for taking note of the situation: <https://www.statesman.com/story/news/crime/2022/07/22/texas-hospital-not-accepting-inmates-as-travis-county-waitlist-grows/65377134007/>.

K9 TEAM LOCATES MISSING TEEN

On August 17th, deputies responded to a report of an emotionally disturbed teen who threatened to commit suicide and was missing. The teen had been missing for an hour-and-a-half, so time was of the essence. Deputy Seth Culver and K9 Radar were dispatched to the scene. Within 30 minutes, the two successfully tracked the teen. Assistance was offered to the family and tragedy was averted. Great job!

National Night Out enhances the relationship between neighbors and law enforcement while bringing back a true sense of community. Furthermore, it provides a great opportunity to bring police and neighbors together under positive circumstances.

TCSO invites you to join us on Tuesday, October 4th as we gather to celebrate. Neighborhood block parties generally occur between 5:00-9:00 pm. For more information on how to register your block party, please click the icon button below. Registration closes September 23rd.

SHOUT OUT

“ My teenage daughter, who just received her license last week, was driving in the left-hand lane of MoPac on Monday around 2pm with my son and myself in the car as well. The truck that had been driving in front of us suddenly swerved into the lane to our right, revealing a large mattress in our path. There were cars in the lane to our right blocking our ability to switch lanes, and my daughter came to a stop in her attempt to find a clear path around the road hazard. It was a scary experience, however within seconds the pulled up behind us with his lights on, checked on us, dragged the mattress out of our path and across the express lane, and hurled it into the median.

I would love to pass on our thanks- it was a very stressful situation for a new driver and the fact that he swooped in so quickly and saved the day was very much appreciated. ”

Thanks - Nora

Well done, Sergeant Aaron St. Clair!
