Sheriff’s Office Co-Hosts Children’s Shelter Event

On Saturday, April 9, 2011, from 11am until 3pm, the Travis County Sheriff's Office, along with the Department of Family and Protective Services, will host the annual Light of Hope event at the Austin Children's Shelter, 4800 Manor Road. The purpose of the Light of Hope event is to bring awareness to the prevention of child abuse and hopefully motivate individuals in the community to become involved in the crusade to end child abuse. This is a collaborative effort by local service organizations that are united by the mission of protecting children. This will also be a time to participate in family activities and learn about volunteer opportunities.

Imagine a community where every child is safe, where every parent has the resources to nurture and protect their kids, where families thrive....Let's work together to let Austin's children grow up safe!
